

GREETINGS FROM HONORS CAROLINA

Welcome to Carolina! All of us on the Honors Carolina team have been anticipating the arrival of your students since we first read their admissions materials many months ago. We're thrilled that they—and you—are now in Chapel Hill.

Over the next two days, you'll learn more about life at one of the world's great universities. This is a place where students and faculty are engaged in the work of invention, discovery, and artistic creativity. Our mission is nothing less than solving the world's great problems and improving the lives of our seven billion fellow inhabitants of this planet. Through Honors Carolina, we aim to involve the Class of 2022 in that endeavor from day one.

A global perspective is an essential element of a 21st-century education, and that's why we also have developed a number of exceptional Honors Carolina study abroad programs. During Orientation, we'll introduce you to exciting internship opportunities in Cape Town, London, Silicon Valley, and Washington D.C., and to our changing roster of Burch Field Research Seminars sited around the globe. We hope that we'll soon see your students on an archaeological dig in Peru, in a public health clinic in Vietnam, or on another equally exhilarating Burch adventure.

Most important of all, these two days of orientation will provide an opportunity for new Tar Heels to get to know one another and to begin building a sense of community that will soon grow to include current students, faculty, and alumni. The relationships they establish through Honors Carolina will last a lifetime.

Again, it's a great privilege to welcome you into the Carolina family. I know that your students will thrive here, and that they will leave a lasting mark on this university and the world beyond. Thank you for sharing them with us. All of us on the Honors Carolina team look forward to working with them—and learning from them—over the next four years.

With all best wishes,

James Leloudis
Professor of History
Peter T. Grauer Associate Dean for Honors Carolina
