

LONDON CALLING!

July 15 (depart US) – July 22, 2023 (depart London)

Join us to travel to London with other incoming first year Honors Carolina students. We'll be based at Winston House, Honors Carolina's European study center, located in the heart of London's historic Bloomsbury district. During our week-long stay, we'll meet with distinguished Honors Carolina alumni in a variety of fields, and we'll get a taste of UNC's wide-ranging global connections.

Program Leaders

Jim Leloudis, Peter T. Gruaer Associate Dean for Honors Carolina & Professor of History

Highlights

The full itinerary will be available to participants in the coming weeks. Highlights from recent years include:

- A private tour of the Parthenon Marbles at the British Museum, led by UNC alumnus and museum curator Sam Moorhead
- Lunch at Middle Temple with UNC alumnus and Queen's Counsel Richard Wilmot-Smith
- An introduction to plant genomics at Kew Royal Botanic Gardens
- A tour of modern London architecture with Roger Kallman, UNC alumnus and retired partner at Skidmore Owings Merrill, one of the world's leading architectural firms
- An introduction to global finance at Bloomberg's London headquarters
- A performance at Shakespeare's Globe
- And an excursion to Bristol to visit with UNC alumna and Lord-Lieutenant Peaches Golding, the King's highest-ranking civilian representative in the City and County of Bristol

Timing & Travel

Participants will make their own arrangements for air travel, departing on Saturday, July 15, for arrival in London no later than mid-day on Sunday, July 16. All students must depart London on Saturday, July 22. Honors Carolina will provide local transport to Winston House.

Cost & Registration

Thanks to generous support from Honors Carolina alumni, we can offer this London adventure for a deeply discounted price of $1,900, which covers the cost of lodging, airport transfers, London Tube and bus transportation, museum and theater tickets, excursions, health insurance, and breakfast and dinner daily.

Airfare is not included in the program fee.

Students interested in participating should sign up here. In order for us to confirm your participation, we'll need to verify that you have:

- formally accepted your UNC admission offer
- paid your UNC enrollment deposit (or have a waiver on file)

Once confirmed, you will receive a follow-up email regarding payment procedures, passport requirements, and flight arrangements. Program participants will be billed via their UNC student account for the total $1,900 program fee. A $300 non-refundable deposit is due within two weeks of billing. The full balance is due by May 31.

Once 16 students have been confirmed, additional applicants will be wait listed.
